

The field team met with City of Beaverton staff to kick off the wetland delineation and sediment sampling work that took place June 25-27, 2025.

One step the wetland delineation team uses in their process to determine the location of existing wetlands is observing vegetation.

The sediment sampling crew took samples from multiple locations around Ross Lake. They are seen here preparing the sample to be sent to a lab for analysis.